FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

zCover announces zCover Silicone Case passed RoHS and US FDA Test

Canada, British Columbia, Richmond – Feb 3, 2010

zCover has announced that zCover gloveOne™ HealthCare Grade Silicone Case tested and comply with RoHS and US FDA.

gloveOne is beneficial for health care staff working in hospitals and clinics. Many recent studies, from all over the world, have shown that a high percentage of cell phones used by health care workers in hospitals are contaminated by a number of bacteria and pathogens, some of which are extremely dangerous. The gloveOne ruggedized silicone case is a cost-effective, simple way to keep shared phone handsets protected. gloveOne can be washed with soap and water. Zcover cases can also be disinfected by wiping them with a germicidal wipe commonly used in hospitals.

zCover cases and keyboard covers are specially designed to provide the ultimate protection. Each case and cover is custom fitted for the device and enhances functionality and appearance. zCover silicone is flexible and light-weight but also extremely strong, protecting devices from scratches, bumps, dust and high impact in a variety of settings.

zCover protective products are made with healthcare grade silicone and are recommended for use in hospitals, clinics and other healthcare settings where shared phone handsets, computer keyboards and other devices need to be kept free from bacteria and other pathogens. zCover silicone is non-toxic, safe and completely washable by machine, with soap and water by hand or with germicidal wipes commonly found in healthcare environments.
